

Review Questions		Yes	No	Reasoning / Comment
1	Are you able to identify a clear statement of both functional and non-functional requirements?
2	Did the initial idea requirement change?
3	Were any requirements left out when designing the High/Med Fidelity Prototype? If yes, to what extent were these requirements omitted compared to the initial idea?
4	Do the supporting
5	Are there any aspects of the initial idea which have not been captured by the requirements?
6	Areas in which they have strayed from the initial idea?
7	Requirements which have been unsuccessful in conveying their intent, or have been vague?
8	Any opportunities that you feel may have been missed by the proposal?
9	Other
10

Use the Effort Rubric Descriptors found in the Workbook to Substantiate Your Score

	1	2	3	4	5	Reasoning
Overall impression of how well the medium/high fidelity prototypes align with the functional and non-functional requirements.
Overall impression of completeness of information. Do the documents indicate completeness and convey information clearly regarding the mobile app idea and requirements?
Other

General Descriptors
1	Demonstrates little to no engagement or interest in the activity. Completes the minimum required tasks but does not go beyond. Quality of work is significantly lacking, with errors and incomplete sections.
2	Completes all required tasks adequately but without any additional effort. Work is competent but lacks creativity and enthusiasm. Meets the basic standards but doesn't stand out.
3	Demonstrates a solid level of engagement and interest in the activity. Completes all required tasks with attention to detail and accuracy. Shows some initiative and creativity in problem-solving or execution.
4	Goes above and beyond the required tasks, adding extra elements or details. Demonstrates creativity, critical thinking, and a deeper understanding of the activity. Shows a high level of dedication, resulting in polished and impressive work.
5	Demonstrates an extraordinary level of engagement, enthusiasm, and passion. Not only completes all tasks but goes far beyond, adding unique, innovative elements. Exhibits a high level of critical thinking, creativity, and originality. The work produced is of exceptional quality, demonstrating mastery of the subject or skill. Sets a new standard for excellence, inspiring and impressing others.